1. A resistance organization exists in Western Serbia under the name of Oslobodjenje Zemlje, or OZ (Liberation of the Country). A teacher, Mota Djuricic, in the village of Ioslicic, in the Valjevo district, was arrested in December 1950 for being a member of the OZ. The UDB found an OZ membership card on her person, and as a result she was sentenced to six years in prison.
2. Small underground Chetnik groups are currently operating in the Valjevo area. Lieutenant Colonel Vladimir Komarcic, known as Iale, formerly commander of Mihailovic's Posavsko-Kolubarski Corps, and Mile Boskovic, at one time commander of the Valjevo Military District under Mihailovic, live in mountain hide-outs in the area of Medvednik, Maljen, Rudnik, and Suvobor. The people in these areas are reported to be helping them.
3. Nikola Kalabic, a former Chetnik officer, is reported to have been surrounded in 1950 by Militia and Army units between the villages of Brezdje and Osecenica. He managed however, to escape, and the people of the Valjevo area believe that he is still living in their area.
4. Spiro Miladinovic is designated as the leader of a Chetnik group from Toplica which is operating in the Kosmet area.
